2. A note from the hosts

"Our movement is stronger, more global, more diverse and far more impactful due to the tireless work of social enterprise leaders and teams, effective intermediaries, grassroots networks and all those who support them to achieve their social impact. Our mission at SEWF is to grow a global impact economy and this feels far more realisable as we now work with an increasing group of strong allies".

Hélène Malandain, Chair, SEWF

"We've had an incredible few days, but what happens next is what matters most. Every city that has hosted SEWF has been transformed, but it doesn't just happen on its own. It is on all of us to create the change, to create the legacy of SEWF22 – let's make it happen".

Luke Terry, CEO, White Box Enterprises
(SEWF22 Co-host)

3. Event details

SEWF was much anticipated. It was the second time in 13 years Australia hosted the event, and the first time the global social enterprise community had the opportunity to reunite at an in-person SEWF event since 2019.

2,770 participants came together for two inspiring days of learning, inspiration and connection. Participants had the chance to join either in-person at the Brisbane Convention and Exhibition Centre (BCEC) in Brisbane, Meeanjin (Australia), attend virtually via Hopin or join SEWF22 from over 30 SEWF Community Hubs around the world – as a truly hybrid event.

3.1 Programme

SEWF's goal is to grow the global social enterprise movement to accelerate our transition to a new global impact economy. Building on the learnings from past years, the SEWF22 programme was co-designed in close collaboration by SEWF, White Box Enterprises, our global community including the Australian social enterprise community and previous participants and speakers. This ensured the programme themes maintained an international context and topics were relevant for a wide range of attendees, including early-stage to mature social enterprises, policymakers, government authorities, students, and many others.

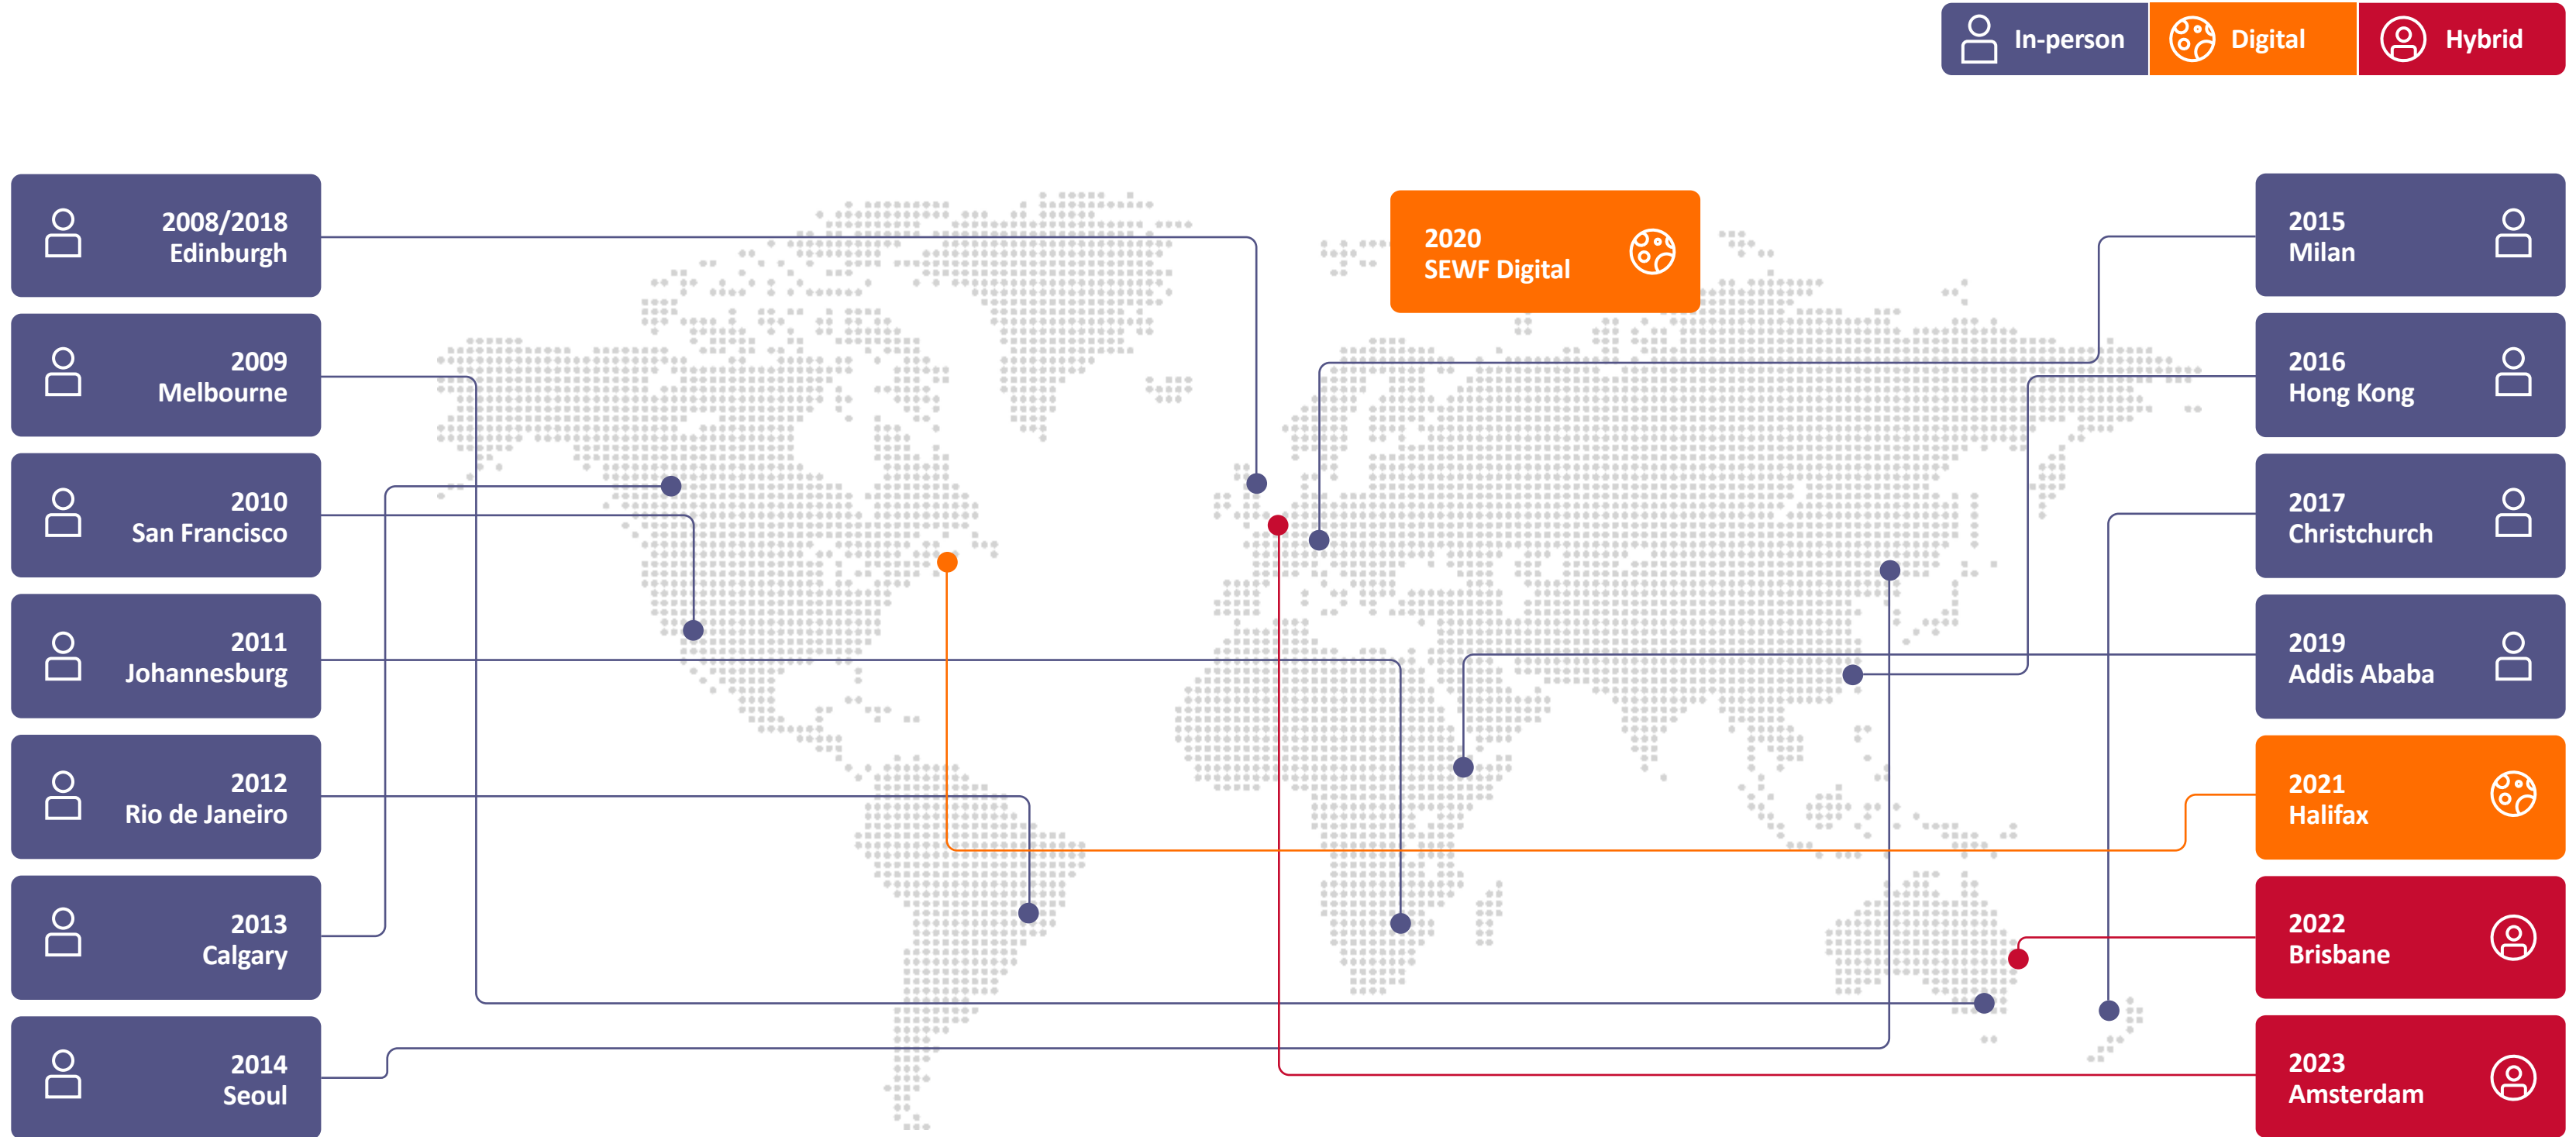

The event was curated in close consultation with the following committees:

- Diversity and Inclusion
- First Nations Advisory
- Sustainability
- SEWF Board of Directors
- SEWF22 Advisory
- SEWF22 Youth Advisory Group
- more info here

SEWF22 key themes:

- Climate Solutions
- Excellence & Failure
- Indigenous Social Enterprise
- Policy & Systems
- Unusual Suspects

SEWF22

The event kicked off with a Welcome to Country performed by the Nunukul Yuggera Aboriginal Dance Company, acknowledging the Turrbal and the Jagera People, the Traditional Custodians of the land on which SEWF22 was held. Traditional values, wisdom, and methods of Indigenous culture were center stage across all conversations on climate solutions, policy design, social procurement, food systems, inclusive governance and youth engagement.

"....one of the things that most impressed me was the respect expressed to the people who live on the Australian land for many decades. The acknowledgement of Indigenous people and Indigenous entrepreneurship was present in every fibre of the event. For me this embodies social entrepreneurship in its true essence by adding value to society, instead of at the cost of society."

Jorien van Lookeren Campagne, Beleid & Onderzoek bij Social Enterprise Netherlands (SEWF 2023 Co-host)

3.2 Accessibility

Working closely with the Diversity and Inclusion Committee, we took steps to make the event as accessible and inclusive as possible including using an accessible in-person venue with written signage cues and ramps, making Auslan interpretation available for in-person participants and closed captions available on Hopin and in visual presentations such as videos. 926 bursary tickets were awarded and discounted tickets were made available to reduce barriers to access and increase participation. A quiet room onsite also helped participants to unwind as all sessions had a buffer between them to give people time to move between rooms and take a break. You can read more here.

"The venue was great. I have a disability and was concerned about getting in between events but as they were all so close to each other it was very easy".

Participant, Australia

3.3 Environmental Sustainability

Environmental sustainability was given due priority from the outset of planning for SEWF22, to not only have the least possible carbon footprint through zero-waste practices but also increased carbon savings by providing the option of virtual attendance through the hybrid format. A well-defined SEWF Carbon and Sustainability Statement and SEWF Sustainability Strategy formed the cornerstone of the overall approach to event sustainability.

“SEWF22 was inclusive, mobilising and has just set a new standard of zero waste events... I was always hopeful but have never seen it pulled off so spectacularly”.

Kylie Flament, Former Green Connect CEO, Australia

A dedicated taskforce was brought together to look at every aspect of environmental sustainability for the event and a comprehensive sustainability checklist guided the actions taken to make SEWF22 a zero-waste event. Sufficient measures were taken to avoid wastage of paper, food, energy, and water during the event. White Box Enterprises, in partnership with a team of experts at Green Connect, not only oversaw the adoption of sustainable practices but also put measures in place to aggregate data and calculate the footprint at BCEC (the main venue for SEWF22). Going a step further, Sustainability Advisories were issued to all SEWF Community Hubs as a guidance to adopt climate friendly practices while hosting the hubs.

During the event, a total of 908.3kg of waste was produced. Of this total, 68.9% (614.8kg) was diverted from landfill and entered the supplied composting waste stream, 10.3% (93.8kg) entered commingled recycling, whilst the remaining 22% (199.7kg) was generated landfill waste.

All tickets (Digital Passes and Physical Passes) for SEWF22 included a mandatory carbon offset. This was split between two social enterprise partners, SELCO Foundation in India as our international partner and the Aboriginal Carbon Foundation as our Australian partner.

Recycling	Organics	Landfill
93.8kg	614.8kg	199.7kg
10.3%	67.7%	22%

3.4 Fringe events

We kickstarted SEWF22 with the Policy Forum (24-26 May 2022) which had over 751 registrations from 67 countries. And in the days preceding and following SEWF22 (28-29 September), a series of fringe events designed and led by different organisations across the Australian social enterprise community were held. These transformed the event into a truly diverse and inclusive experience that celebrated the strengths of the social enterprise movement to amplify the relevance of a global impact economy. Fringe events included:

- Australian Social Enterprise Youth Forum in Brisbane
- Academic Symposium in Brisbane
- Rural Gathering in Beechworth (Victoria)
- TFN Pitch / Crowdfunding Night hosted by The Funding Network in Brisbane
- Social Enterprise Bus Tours to Logan, Brisbane, Sunshine Coast & Toowoomba (Queensland)

3.5 Community Hubs

The SEWF Community Hub model which originated in 2021, provided an opportunity for groups to come together in their own regions during SEWF22 (28-29 September), curating their own programme tailored to their community. With over 30 Community Hubs in 2022, social entrepreneurs had an opportunity to engage with SEWF22 programme content, network, share ideas and opportunities with each other locally.

Community Hubs were available in the following countries: Aotearoa New Zealand, Australia, Belgium, Canada, China, Denmark, England, Ghana, Hong Kong, Indonesia, Ireland, Liberia, Malaysia, Netherlands, Palestine, Rwanda, Scotland, Sri Lanka, Turkey.

4. Feedback and learnings

4.1 Polls

Throughout the event, participants shared their opinions and thoughts on different situations and challenges social enterprises face.

What will make the biggest difference to social enterprise in 2022?

As social enterprises increase their commercial and governmental partnerships to achieve greater impact, which of the following challenges is your priority?

What is the most significant challenge your social enterprise has faced?

4.2 Participant feedback

Following SEWF22 a survey was circulated to participants to gain feedback and help inform our approach in 2023. The results are based on the responses received from participants who took the survey.

---

9 out of 10 participants felt that SEWF met their expectations

---

8 out of 10 participants felt motivated to increase their involvement in the social enterprise movement

---

9 out of 10 participants agreed to have been exposed to inspiring content on social enterprise

---

7 out of 10 participants learned information or acquired skills that they can apply beyond the event

---

8 out of 10 participants considered the speakers and moderators as highly engaging

---

8 out of 10 persons got good opportunities to network and make meaningful connections

---

8 out of 10 persons felt satisfied with methods adopted to reduce carbon footprint of SEWF22.

“Game on Australia. Game on world! What an extraordinary forum. I've got the momentum bug! 2 days. 93 countries. 2,770 people. One mighty call to action”.

Ainsley, Australia

“The opportunity of attending the SEWF22 has created opportunities beyond belief, our small Indigenous Mentorship, from the moment we arrived, has changed. Not only because we were around so many inspiring social enterprises or the wealth of knowledge we received, but also the ongoing support and business opportunities that continue. We are so grateful to White Box Enterprises and the Queensland Government to have given us the bursary... Thank you”.

Adam, bursary recipient, Australia

“Very well organised and very friendly SEWF team, thank you and I am looking forward to the next one!”

Cristina, Scotland

“It's a great initiative and an excellent opportunity to meet people and acquire even more knowledge”.

Cynthia, Democratic Republic of Congo

“This is a once in a lifetime experience to get the opportunity to talk to some amazing people especially the motivational speakers and the founders and CEOs of Social Enterprises”.

Owen, Papua New Guinea

“SEWF22 was a revelation. It's clear that there are real answers to some of the world's more difficult challenges, and the people to make it happen. To have so many gathered in the one place was inspiring. I returned with my energy and enthusiasm renewed, and new ideas to increase the power and impact of our work”.

Ravi, bursary recipient, Australia

“It was so much fun seeing old friends and making new ones at the SEWF22 as we shared stories of growth, pain, frustration and joy in using business as a tool for social impact around a cuppa”.

Mikhara, Australia

4.3 Speaker quotes

“Entrepreneurship is often like jumping off a cliff and building the plane on the way down. [...] but if there are groups that we can learn from and quickly grab from their decades of knowledge, we should be open to that. And that is what forums like this are all about”.

Daniel Flynn, Thankyou, Australia

“The leadership we need to see is stepping back and making space so community can self-determine their own future”.

Rona Glynn-McDonald, Common Ground, Australia

“I did not choose social enterprise, social enterprise chose me”.

Lucille Anak Awen Jon, Pungu Borneo, Malaysia

“Social enterprise is a movement within the larger impact movement. It’s messy and it’s complex, but it’s exciting and it’s necessary. So, wherever you see yourself in this ever-changing landscape, your work and your contributions are so very important. Thank you for being part of the global social enterprise movement”.

Hélène Malandain, SEWF, Aotearoa New Zealand

“You don’t need to know everything to be an ally, you’ve just got to want to care and want to engage”.

Dylan Alcott, Paralympian and Disability Advocate, Australia

“It takes an entire movement of change makers, practitioners and amazing pioneers to take the words of a page and put them into action. And that wasn’t me, that was – and that is – people like those in the social enterprise community. So, this is big teamwork!”.

Kate Raworth, Doughnut Economics, UK

7. Thank you!

On behalf of the SEWF and White Box Enterprises' teams, we thank all our partners, sponsors, Board of Directors, all advisory committees, participants, volunteers, event support team and all our supporters, for your help in making this event such a memorable experience.

"To all SEWF22 participants, we thank you for creating time in your busy schedules to learn more about the best ways to move the social enterprise movement forward while prioritising people and the planet in our business systems. And to realise our vision of a global impact economy, SEWF will continue to walk beside you, using all of our resources and energy to ensure that communities around the world have a planet fit to live in and economies that are fit for purpose for future generations".
